Menlo Park Lions Improve Avenue

It was the Menlo Park Lions Club that took the initiative when the construction of Dibble Hospital made necessary the improvement of Ravenswood Ave.

Already members, most of whom work six days a week, have donated a Sunday for the construction of a sidewalk for pedestrians, and they have made arrangements for several other improvements, including a signal light at the railroad track and street lights along the road. Southern Pacific has contracted to install the signal light and six lights will be installed by Pacific Gas and Electric as soon as materials become available.

Activities of the Menlo Park Lions Club are now under the direction of Mario Paccioretti, who was elected president when Thomas Cuff's term expired recently. Other new officers are Dr. Lawrence Cook, first vice-president; John Sullivan, second vice president; Chris Connor, third vice president; George Angus, secretary-treasurer; George Terhune, tail twister; Drew Stolp, lion tamer; Roland Midgley, Edward Derry, J. W. Ryan, Dr. Frank Frates, Dan Atell, Stephen Gilbert and Wallace Ott, members of the board of directors.

Members of the Lions Club met at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday evening at Bertrand's Oakwood Inn to discuss their Sunday picnic at Searsville. This will not be a dinner meeting.

Bond Committee Sets Premiere

Redwood City citizens will join all Northern Californians in an attempt to fulfill the quota for the area, even though Redwood City's quota in the Fifth War Loan Drive, now officially ended, was surpassed by a large total, J. A. Buhler, general chairman of war bond drives in Redwood City said this week.

Another bond premiere to be shown at the Redwood Theater Tues., July 25, at 8:15 p.m. will attempt to boost Northern California bond sales which have lagged considerably.

Admission to the premiere of "Mr. Skeffington," starring Bette Davis, Claude Raines, and Walter Able, will be by ticket only. Tickets will be issued to purchasers of war bonds.

Meussdorffer Challenges City Council

W. L. Meussdorffer this week hurled a challenge at the Redwood City City Council and its housecleaning program. The council accepted and introduced a resolution giving Meussdorffer 30 days to repair or remove his building at 1606 Main St.

The loquacious real estate dealer engaged in a heated one hour debate with the council members last night in which he assailed past and present city officials, told the council of "many places worse than mine," and hurled a direct challenge at the council in a flurry of words with Mayor W. W. Hilton.

C. E. Randlett of the city engineer's department submitted a report declaring the building owned by Meussdorffer to be a two-story lightly framed building with no studding; not complying "with elementary building practice" and leaning 6½ inches in front.

The report declared the building was "very bad in all particulars" and that "the leaning tendency will continue until the building collapses."

Meussdorffer challenged the report and declared he was getting "darn sick and tired" of the whole affair.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" asked Mayor Hilton.

"What am I going to do about it? You brought it up. What are you going to do about it?" was Meussdorffer's challenging reply.

"There's plenty of good attorneys I can get to show if you're right or wrong," the building owner declared a few minutes later.

"If the department heads say that this building does not conform, you might just as well remedy the situation or fold up your books," Councilman Floyd R. Granger was the first to accept the challenge.

"That's just what I was going to say," concurred Councilman Chester C. Armstrong.

It was asked if such an abatement proceeding had been tested in court. City Atty. Paul McCarthy stated that he didn't recall any case exactly like this one.

"Then, let's find out," demanded Granger.

McCarthy then swore in Randlett, who testified that all the statements in his report were true to the best of his knowledge.

Armstrong then offered for introduction a resolution to give Meussdorffer 30 days in which to have the building razed or removed or have the city raze or remove the building and charge it to the property owner.

The voting was 4-2:
Anderson—no.
Armstrong—yes.
Britschgi—yes.
Granger—yes.
McNulty—no.
Hilton—yes.

"Now what is the city going to do with the rest of the buildings?" asked Meussdorffer.

"I would like to confine my discussion to the property in question and not to city officials for the past 28 years," Armstrong stated.

Meussdorffer sat down.

The resolution placing a definite demand on Meussdorffer completed a list of "the first 10" houses declared unsightly, unsafe, unsanitary or a fire hazard by the city's department heads.

City Mgr. Robert W. Mead reported that satisfactory work on improvements in eight of the cases had been shown and prior to the Meussdorffer affair, the council gave the owner of a shack at 569 Hayes St. until the next meeting to either clean up the shack or have the city clean it up and charge the expense to the property owner.

Yule Party In July For Bob Book

Christmas in July became a reality for Robert James (Bob) Book, 20-year-old son of Mrs. Ray O'Lague, 620 2nd Ave., Redwood City, who was the guest of honor at a Christmas party and open house at his home Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The affair was his first Christmas celebration at home in three years.

Seaman 1/c Book hadn't seen a Christmas tree since 1941 until he arrived home last week. His mother, who has saved the tree that the family used last December, had the tree, complete with lights and Bob's presents, ready for his return.

Turkey and all the trimmings of a Christmas celebration were prepared for Wednesday night's party to which Bob's many Redwood City friends attended.

Since his enlistment in the navy in March, 1942, he has seen much action in the Pacific and Asiatic theaters of war as the head of a merchant marine ship gun crew.

Philip Parkan, 469 Lindenville St., South San Francisco, and his wife, Mary, were both injured Sunday when their automobile crashed into a wire fence on Skyline Blvd., at Sharp Park.

Parkan was treated at the Community Hospital for abrasions to his forehead, while his wife was given treatment for cuts and scratches on her face and legs. The two Parkan children, Betty Ann, 4, and Robert, 2, who were also riding in the automobile at the time of the accident, suffered shock, but were otherwise uninjured, hospital officials reported.

Mrs. Marie Detert, 2875 Green St., San Francisco, received minor injuries, Sunday when an automobile driven by Guntert Detert was in a collision with one driven by John H. Brahtz, a naval officer from Hunter's Point, on the Junipero Serra extension, south of Daly City.

City Council Studies Rat Problem

Royal Hodge, San Mateo County health inspector appeared before the city council Monday and gave a comprehensive report on the rat condition in Redwood City, declaring it to have a "bad natural condition for rodent infestation."

Hodge stated that Main St. was the point of the heaviest infestation and named Commercial Wy. and along Finger Creek as other bad points in the city. He stated that the increasing number of people raising poultry was causing most of the increase in the rat population in Redwood City.

"Where there's food, the rats will go," he stated.

He quoted statistics from a report by Frank A. Mowry, county sanitary inspector stating that it costs $21 a year to raise a rat and that the average rat will have 8-16 in a litter and will have an average of one litter every two months.

"If you're going to feed rats, you're going to have rats," Hodge stated.

In suggesting a remedy for the threatening growth of the rat population here, Hodge quoted Ray Spangler "Under the Courthouse Dome" in the Tribune in which the columnist listed a number of suggestions made by John W. Fickeisen, chief county sanitary inspector.

The council agreed with Hodge's suggestion that an extensive publicity program be carried out in an effort to educate the people of the dangers of rats and on methods of control. The council instructed the city health department to draw up a series of educational articles along this line.

Hodge also suggested that since some people will obey nothing but the law, the council should pass a strict ordinance making rodent control mandatory.

On a motion of Councilman Granger, the council placed the matter on the agenda and instructed the city attorney to see what laws the city does have which might aid in the rodent control effort.

Later in the meeting City Manager Mead reported that all downtown alleys have been cleaned of rubbish. However it was pointed out by the council that there were a number of vacant lots around the city being used for dumps. This was referred to the city manager with the suggestion that he get 'no rubbish' signs from the city health department and post them on the lots.

Films Fail To Arrive At R.C. Theaters

Scores of Redwood City children who were promised that they could attend the matinee at the local theater because they had been good all week were made innocent victims of the growing transportation problem Wednesday and didn't get to see the movies after all.

The 1:30 afternoon show scheduled at the Redwood Theater was postponed, because the Gilroy Trucking Co. of San Francisco, which was due in at 11 a.m. with the film for today's new feature, which includes "In Our Time" with Paul Henreid and Ida Lupino, and Kay Kyser's "Swing Fever," failed to appear in time for the matinee showing.

So now, the local youngsters must wait until Saturday to reap their award for having washed behind their ears and watering the victory garden.

Fire Threatens S & W Plant

A fire of undetermined origin threatened a warehouse at the S & W Fine Foods plant at Laurel and Heller Sts. Tuesday. The two alarms on the fire were turned in at 10:46 and 10:47.

Three trucks from the Redwood City Fire Dept. rushed to the scene and extinguished the blaze as it was licking its way through the wood structure into the warehouse filled with carton boxes, barrels, paper towels and equipment. Two hundred cartons of raisins piled up along the wall were ablaze and a total loss in the fire.

A $150,000 fire swept the S & W plant on Nov. 4, 1939.

T. A. Rhorabough, factory manager, reported that damage was slight in today's fire.

A chimney blaze in the home of Mrs. Mary Cashman, 223 Jeter St., caused little damage. The fire department answered an alarm at 11:02 a.m., approximately 15 minutes after the S & W alarm sounded.

Leo Putnam Faces Charge of Assault

Leo Putnam, 31-year-old Rockaway Beach refrigerator service man, was in the county jail here this week on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Putnam, who was discharged from the marine corps in November, 1943, was arrested by Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore on a warrant.

Arthur Frediani of Rockaway Beach charged that during an altercation at Rockaway Beach Saturday night Putnam drew a knife on him. Putnam denied he had a knife. Judge R. A. Rapsey of Daly City set Putnam's bail at $2500 cash or $5000 bond.

75 Volunteer Cutters, Pickers Assist With 1944 Apricot Crop

Nearly 75 volunteer workers from Redwood City came to the aid of Santa Clara County apricot growers this week, assisting in picking and cutting crops in the Los Altos-Mountain View area, but the need for even more helpers is requested by the Farm Labor Office.

The essential job of saving one of the largest fruit crops in history lies with the volunteer workers, gathered from among the women and children of this region, and if the fruit is to be gathered in time, every person available should offer his services, the Farm Labor Office reports.

Each morning the fruit growers pick up the helpers at the First Methodist Church, Broadway and Brewster Ave., take them to the feilds where they are primarily engaged in cutting the fruit, and return the workers to Redwood City in the afternoon.

The wage scale for this essential volunteer work depends on the amount of fruit picked and processed by each person. The opportunity to earn considerable money from this necessary activity exists for those anxious to help the growers as well as themselves, the labor office said.

With the peak production expected next week, at least 100 persons will be needed daily, and girls, particularly are being asked to volunteer to save the crops.

POWER FROM SHASTA DAM FLOWS OVER P.G. and E. LINES TO HOMES, FARMS and FACTORIES

Central Valley Power today flows into the homes, farms and factories of Northern and Central California —through the interconnected transmission and distribution system of Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

Under contract with the Federal Bureau of Reclamation, Central Valley Power is delivered to the Company at its Shasta Substation, twenty-five miles below Shasta Dam—is metered and paid for there. From that point the Company's system becomes the natural and most economic outlet for Central Valley Power, making it possible to put that power to immediate productive use.

We have undertaken to pay the Government a minimum of $2,700,000 a year for the output from Shasta Dam beginning January 1, 1945. Payments may exceed $3,000,000 a year—millions which the Government may apply to operating costs and to reducing the cost of water to the farmers of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys.

Distribution of Central Valley Power over the Company's system follows a program submitted to the Government more than three years ago. Construction of new plants has been curtailed by us; contracts for purchased power have been re-arranged; the output of our steam operated plants has been reduced—all to make a place for Central Valley Power.

We are cooperating with the Government as we have cooperated over the years with cities, irrigation districts and other governmental agencies—cooperating to provide a market for electric power developed as an incident to water conservation and storage.

When additional Central Valley Power is developed the Company will be ready to make a market for that too and to pay for it the same fair and equitable price we are paying for the power now delivered to us at Shasta Substation.

Central Valley Power is brought to the people of Northern and Central California at the same low rates they now pay—rates that are among the lowest in the United States. It joins with the output of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's sixty-five generating plants to meet the electric needs of homes, farms and factories—to serve the country in war—and when peace comes to help build a greater California.

Council Puts Clamps on 'Two Friends', Hears Proposal of City Amusement Tax

Following a report from Police Chief C. L. Collins listing a number of altercations in the Two Friends Cafe at 2303 El Camino Real, the Redwood City City Council this week instructed the city attorney to recommend to the State Board of Equalization that an alcoholic beverage license not be granted to the new owner of the cafe, Thornton Walker.

The cafe patronized only by Negroes applied to the board of equalization for a renewal of their beer license.

Chief Collins stated that he had talked with Walker who recently purchased the cafe and had told him that the council would take steps if any further altercations were reported. The chief said that Walker promised co-operation and asked that a policeman drop into the cafe "two or three times a night" to help keep order.

Councilman Floyd D. Granger asked if there is any other place to which the Negroes in Redwood City could go to drink and was informed that there is none.

"Those men have to have some place to go," suggested Granger.

"It doesn't have to be in Redwood City as far as I'm concerned," stated Councilman C. C. Armstrong who introduced the motion to recommend revocation of the license.

City Mgr. Robert Mead suggested the adoption of an amendment to the business license ordinance to assess public recreational activities 2 cents on each ticket sold. Mead pointed out as an example an amendment by the City of Stockton providing for such a tax. The Stockton amendment included all public dances, skating rinks, theaters and sports contests.

Upon the motion of Councilman Harold Anderson, the council voted to place the matter on the agenda and instructed the city manager to submit to council members an outline of the federal amusement tax, a copy of the Stockton tax provisions and a copy of a proposed ordinance for Redwood City.

Mead also suggested an ordinance amending Section 447 of the city charter fixing the assessment schedule higher on utilities to permit higher city taxes on the telephone and telegraph companies. The matter was placed on the agenda for a further report from the city manager at the next meeting.

The council voted against a proposed ordinance providing for free licenses for dogs returning from the army.

City Atty. Paul McCarthy reported that M. S. Hanrahan had asked for $2520 interest on eight $500 bonds issued in 1915. McCarthy stated that there was but $4276 in the bond fund and suggested that the council permit him to tell Hanrahan that this amount was all the city would pay for the outstanding bonds.

Wesley Lee, custodian of the hall of the veterans' council, reported that children have been breaking windows, entering and wrecking the hall and that the police had been unable to catch them. Since the building is owned by the city, the council instructed the city manager to arrange for repair of the building and the police department to watch the building more carefully.

The matter of splitting houses into one and two-room apartments was again placed on the agenda.

A proposal to make the interest on delinquent city taxes 6 per cent instead of 7 per cent to bring it in line with the state and the county was put on the agenda.

The council instructed the city manager to advertise for bids on street improvements to be made with the ¼-cent gas tax. The date for bids to be submitted was set for Aug. 17.

Councilmen Armstrong and Granger, McCarthy, Mead and Lyle Winter announced intention of attending the bi-monthly meeting of the League of California Cities Thursday night.

Harvey L. Dean, 127 Park St., asked the council for permission to raise turkeys. A health department report stated that the raising of turkeys by Dean was in violation of Ordinance 451. The council voted to notify all property owners within 200 feet of the address asking that any objections be presented before the council at its next meeting.

A suggested ordinance to prohibit smoking at the Redwood City Harbor was placed on the agenda for further study by the city manager.

The State Division of Highways wrote the council that it will place a standard sightpost with reflectors at the curb of Bayshore Hwy. and Brewster Ave. in an effort to avert the potential traffic danger there.

The council approved a recommended purchase of 10 baby swing seats and one climbing tree by the recreation commission. The purchase will not exceed $275.

Suggestion of a resolution of acceptance and dedication of two lots on the westerly end of Oak Ave. for use in extending the avenue was referred to the real estate committee. The city acquired the two lots from Frances Shurtleff by a decree of quiet title recorded Apr. 24, 1940.

The city manager reported that a light is now burning all night in front of the post office in compliance with the council's wishes.

Dance permits were issued to Yvonne Schlichtmann and Court Madrone 158.

The council adjourned in memory of Hubert C. Hornick.

Southern Pacific Defendant in Suit

Suit for $25,000 personal damages, resulting from injuries he received from a fall while boarding a train, Aug. 3, 1943, was filed in San Mateo County Superior Court, Tuesday by Russell C. Lane, 2225 Carmelita Dr., San Carlos against Southern Pacific Co. Lane is a buyer for Purity Food Stores.

In his complaint, Lane charges that while he was boarding a northbound train on the morning of August 5, 1943, the train through "carelessness and negligence," started moving, causing him to be thrown to the ground and dragged about 50 feet.

In addition to the request for personal damages, Lane is seeking approximately $3040 special damages to cover the costs in connection with the injury.

Development Section To Slate Meeting

Redwood City's Community Development Section of the Chamber of Commerce is co-operating with Col. Alexander R. Heron, director of reconstruction and re-employment for the state of California, and will soon meet with a representative of the state office to discuss postwar plans, E. W. (Ned) Butler, manager of the Redwood City chamber announced this week.

The meeting between the community development section and the state representative will determine, through an analysis of plans and needs, the possible use of federal and state aid in the Redwood City program.

The committee in charge of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce barbecue met today to plan the menu and entertainment for the event which is scheduled for Sat., Aug. 19.

Lt. Comdr. J. J. Sawaska---17 Years at Sea

BY R. H. SCOTT

Back from 10 gruelling months in the South Pacific, Lt. Comdr. J. J. Sawaska got his first glimpse of his Redwood City home last week.

Sawaska, a sea veteran of 17 years, was recently commended by Lt. Gen. R. Robert Eichelberger for his outstanding work in unloading supplies for troops invading Hollandia, New Guinea. It is the only personal letter of commendation written by Eichelberger to a merchant marine commander during this war.

Sawaska's men were with the first wave of invaders and brought ashore hi-octane, food and ammunition for the soldiers and marines, who after establishing a beachhead pushed successfully inland in the first operation against the Japs on Dutch New Guinea.

"It wasn't exactly duck soup," was Sawaska's terse but meaningful description of the landing.

The lieutenant commander had nothing but praise for Col. Archibald Roosevelt, son of Teddy, who was one of the leaders in the New Guinea campaign.

"The men think that the sun shines and sets on 'Archie'," exclaimed the commander.

Sawaska first met Roosevelt at a dinner aboard ship and at the same time met one of the air aces of the Pacific. The ace (26 planes to his credit—name withheld) presented Sawaska with his prize souvenir of the war. The airman, since reported missing, gave Sawaska a Jap flag which was wrapped around the chest of the last Jap pilot beaten in battle by the Yank. The flag is machine gun riddled and is covered with the blood of the Nip who waged the unsuccessful fight.

In one corner of the flag is written the name of the pilot and in the other three corners are the number of engagements in which he has taken part. Indications were that the flier was one of the veterans of the Nip air fleet.

A strange sidelight to the story told to Sawaska by the flier was that the Jap flier was wearing a sorority pin from a college on the Pacific Coast!

The flier gave Sawaska the flag and asked the commander to bring it back to the United States and show it to people so that they can perhaps have a little closer realization of war and through this realization work just a little harder at their war job and buy that extra bond.

Another prize brought back by the commander was a Japanese bayonet given him by a marine who had engaged the Jap in a hand-to-hand battle and had by superior Judo taken the Jap's own bayonet and had driven it to the hilt into his adversary's body. The bayonet shows the blood stains to verify the story.

Sawaska's ship was with the New Guinea fighters through all the campaigns in British New Guinea and then followed them to take an all important part in the big Hollandia landing.

"We had no idea that we were going to see 10 months of action when we started out from San Francisco," the commander related, explaining that his original orders sending him to Pearl Harbor were changed en route and instead his ship was sent to New Guinea. Port Moresby, Gili Gili, Oro Bay, Dubadora, Buna Lae and Finschafen came first and then the big one—Hollandia.

"We saw a lot of action—the going was tough all the way," reported Sawaska who praised the fine co-operation between the navy, army, marines and merchant marine.

The hardest things to take for the boys "out there," according to the commander, are first, the poor mail service (Sawaska's men went three months without receiving any mail) and the canned rations. Although the latter are hardly an epicurean delight, Sawaska said that he never heard one complaint from his men in the 10 months.

"It was really a touching scene when we arrived back all alone and out of the fog we could hazily make out the form of the Golden Gate Bridge. Then men all had had lumps in their throats and words of thanks to God in their hearts," the commander related.

"Outside of seeing my family, the first things I wanted were to see were a San Francisco newspaper and find out what had been going on, to get into a bathtub and have a real bath again and to taste fresh eggs."

While Commander Sawaska was on this trip, Mrs. Sawaska and their two girls, Sally Jean, 5 and Jo-Anne, 2, had moved to Redwood City (458 Third Ave.) from Los Angeles.

"How did you happen to choose Redwood City?" I asked the commander.

"Those neon signs about the climate looked good to me and I didn't go wrong. I was really sold on Redwood City the first 24 hours I was here," Sawaska answered.

Commander Sawaska is a real veteran of the seven seas. He entered the Massachusetts State Nautical School as a cadet in 1926 from Lynn English High School in Salem, Mass., and graduated in 1928. In one of his first trips he was on the first American 3-masted sailing ship going from Boston to Iceland.

On his 21st birthday he left the school ships with a license as an officer and since has sailed to nearly every port in the world. He has spent 17 of his 37 years on the sea. His longest trip was around the world on the USS President Van Buren—26,540 miles in 3 months and 20 days. On this trip, the ship stopped in 18 different countries.

Since the start of the war, he has been sailing back and forth from the South Pacific. Since the attack on Pearl Harbor, Sawaska has had until the current vacation but 30 days' rest.

One of his most vivid trips was in 1935 when he was on a vessel carrying scrap metal to Japan. As the ship approached the Japanese port, Sawaska spoke to the captain.

"I don't like this trip, Captain," Sawaska said, "Someday, our cargo is going to come back to us in a way we won't like."

Sawaska was severely reprimanded for the remark.

Seven years later Sawaska met the same captain.

"Don't say it. I remember what you said," was the captain's first words.

The commander, a tall built man (Lithuanian) with dark wavy hair, is looking forward to the day when he can settle down with his family—"but not until we wipe the Japs off the face of the earth."

James Belcher Hurt In Auto Collision

James Belcher, 1006 University Dr., Menlo Park, received minor injuries in an automobile collision at Donahoe St. and Menalto Ave. in East Palo Alto Saturday evening at 5:35 o'clock, the State Highway Patrol reported today.

Belcher was a passenger in a car driven by Darwin Henry, 26, of 265 Wilton Ave., Palo Alto. Driver of the other automobile was William Sherman Case, 64, at 685 Hamilton Ave., Palo Alto.

Burlingame Arcade Bought by Builder

Sale of the Burlingame Arcade, a business property on Burlingame Ave., near El Camino Real in Burlingame, was reported this week in a deed filed with the San Mateo County clerk. A purchase price of $42,250, is indicated by stamps on the deed.

The property was purchased by Richard P. Minor, a Burlingame builder and Office of Price Administration executive for this area, from C. Lawrence and Blanche E. Smith of San Francisco.

The sale, recorded in two separate parcels, includes the entire development on the southeast side of Burlingame Ave., near El Camino known as Burlingame Arcade. Davis and Clifton Co., realtors, represented both parties.

State Pays R.C. Schools $126,263

The state paid the Redwood City elementary school district $126,263 for 1943-44. State aid to the elementary district was based on an average daily attendance of 2061 elementary pupils and on 65 teacher units, California Taxpayers' Assn. stated, making public the first of a series of factual studies of the financial condition of California's public schools.

State aid to each elementary school district at present consists of $1570 per "teacher unit," which the law defines as 35 pupils in average daily attendance or fraction thereof, plus an extra dividend of $6.06 per child in average daily attendance throughout the state, plus a further extra dividend amounting to $4.96 per child in average daily attendance in San Mateo County elementary schools, plus sums not to exceed $100 per pupil for the excess cost of educating physically handicapped children, plus other extras, the association explained. Other expenditures of the district are financed from local property taxes.

North P.A. Man Hurt in Collision

Lawrence Flores, 243 Willow Rd., North Palo Alto, suffered a bruise on the right arm which had recently been broken, in a collision between the car driven by his wife and that of Thurman J. Crews, 1738 Webster St., at the intersection of Hamilton Ave. and Webster St. this week.

Police were told that Mrs. Flores was driving westerly on Hamilton, while Crews was proceeding northwesterly on Webster at the time of the crash.

Supervisors Approve Petition for Quarry

By a three-to-two decision the San Matec County Board of Supervisors approved the petition by Ken T. Royce, San Francisco contractor, to establish a quarry at Rockaway Beach, at its meeting Tuesday.

Although approximately 40 persons from the coastside area appeared to protest the construction of the quarry and more than 125 had signed a petition of protest, the supervisors sustained the recommendation of the County Planning Commission to allow Royce to start building.

Discussion during the three-hour hearing, the second held by the supervisors on this item of business, centered around the question as to whether or not Royce planned to do any blasting in connection with the operation of the proposed quarry.

Because this question was not covered in the contract drawn up between Royce and San Mateo County, Supervisors Edward R. McDonald and Thomas L. Hickey favored a proposal that the matter be returned to the planning commission for further study. However, they were outvoted by the remaining three supervisors, and a motion by Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch that the commission's recommendation favoring the establishment of the quarry be upheld was adopted with Supervisors Hatch, John W. Poole and Fred E. Beer casting the affirmative votes.

J. Ed McClellan, attorney for the coastside residents, argued that the inevitable dust would damage the property of the Rockaway Beach residents in the area of the proposed quarry. This point was debated by Edmund Scott, counsel for Royce, who contended that the limestone dust is used as a fertilizer and would not be wasted by the company.

Members of the delegation from Rockaway Beach and Pedro Valley who were present at the meeting to protest the approval of the proposed quarry, explained that blasting from the present quarry now operating had shaken their homes on various occasions, and in one instance it had caused plaster to fall from the ceiling in a Pedro Valley home.

Supervisors McDonald and Hickey attempted to ascertain whether or not Royce planned to do any blasting on his proposed quarry, but Counsel Scott refused to make a definite statement.

Following approval of the planning commission's recommendation the board accepted a $10,000 surety bond posted by Royce to cover any possible damages his new business operation might cause.

A hearing on the proposed rezoning of the Bayshore property in Redwood City owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. Moore from farming to light industrial was postponed and the matter referred back to the planning commission for further investigation and study.

The board approved the appointment of W. H. Stelter as the new chief of police in Millbrae, replacing Frank Palmieri, who resigned.

The board voted to underwrite the costs of the election of the proposed North Coast County Water District, which is expected to vote soon on organization.

Ingersoll Leaves Potential Fortune in Mining Stocks

Possibility that a sizeable fortune was at least temporarily wiped out with the Japanese occupation of the Philippine Islands was revealed, this week, when petition for distribution of the estate of the late Frank B. Ingersoll, 965 Kings Mountain Rd., Woodside, was filed with the San Mateo County Superior Court.

Although the Ingersoll estate was appraised at $29,600, this did not show any value in connection with millions of shares of Philippine mining stock that Mr. Ingersoll had accumulated during his 25 years as a practicing attorney in the Philippines.

Because the Japanese occupation has made these stocks worthless for the present, an indicated fortune, amounting to hundreds of thousands, and possibly even millions, could not be ascertained since there are no quotations of Philippine mining stock available now.

The probate listing, showed that Ingersoll had either complete ownership, or half ownership in approximately 80 types of Philippine mining stock, one of which showed a par value, prewar, at approximately 133,000 pesos (about $65,000). Also considerable property, and promissory notes, representing thousands of dollars were also in Ingersoll's control.

Possibility that an undetermined amount of this stock and property might be recovered through war damage insurance is indicated in an application to the War Damage Insurance Corp.

Mrs. Joshena M. Ingersoll, executrix for the Ingersoll estate, does receive undivided half interest in the Woodside property, valued at $21,250, shares in the San Mateo Mutual Building and Loan Assn., valued at $8000, and other property valued at $350.

Mr. Ingersoll, a native of Tennesee, died in San Mateo, in May. He had been in business here since his return from the Philippines. A son, Frank, Jr., is now serving with the United States Navy.

Board of Supervisors Votes Rezoning Of Bayshore Hwy. at County Line

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors voted 4 to 1 this week to rezone the Bayshore Hwy. property at the San Francisco County line to pave the way for a $2,000,000 postwar industrial development. The board overruled protests of Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, representative of the First Township where the development will be made.

Hickey pleaded that plans of the Western Crown Cork and Seal Co., which proposes to use the North County site for a postwar plant to employ a minimum of 500, will injure certain residents of McDonald Ave. whose homes border the plant. Hickey maintained that the home owners were being injured without compensation, and that the first duty of government is to protect the home.

Judge Francis W. Murphy, San Mateo, representing the company, explained that the plant would occupy a 33-acre site, 28 of which are in San Mateo County. It will manufacture bottle closures for the beer and soft drink industry. The plant will occupy 100,000 square feet.

He explained that it is a postwar project which will bring jobs instead of handouts after the war, and warned that if rezoning was denied the plant would move to Los Angeles. He admitted damage, chiefly to noise from a spur track, to adjoining home owners, but said the greatest good to the greatest number should prevail.

A petition signed by 26 Bayshore City residents opposed rezoning. In favor of the project were Bayshore air raid wardens, fire district, school district, voters' league, sanitary district, the California State Federation of Labor represented by Atty. Charles J. Janigian, the Bay Area and San Mateo County Labor Councils.

Sale of Buri Buri Recorded Today

Sale of a large portion of the historic Buri Buri rancho in Colma by Ruby V. Chapman from Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rulfs for a reported $57,500, was made public this week, with the recording of the deed in the San Mateo County Recorder's office.

The deed reveals that approximately 135 of the 461 acres in the original Buri Buri ranch, which was first entered on the county records in 1868, had been sold to Mrs. Chapman, and that she plans to continue using the land for farming purposes.

Chief County Jailer Father of Girl

Lou Lodi, chief county jailer, is the father of a girl born Saturday morning at Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo. Mother and baby are "doing fine," hospital aides said. The Lodis, who reside on Buena Vista Ave., Atherton, have another child, a boy.

Junior Commandos Collect 9422 Jars

In Saturday's "Battle of the Coffee Jars," 9422 jars were collected by the Junior Commandos, salvage group sponsored by the Redwood City Junior Chamber of Commerce, S. T. Ratliff, commander-in-chief announced this week.

Sam Peterson, 427 Pine St., was top ace of the "battle," bringing in a total of 550 jars. Sam is now a captain with two service ribbons, awarded for outstanding work in all salvage "battles."

Palmer Blote, 2931 Crocker St., also a captain wearing two service ribbons, collected 364 jars.

Buck and Robert Schott, 316 D St., and Jack and Robert McAfee, 327 D St., brought in a combined total of 261 jars. These four boys are now second lieutenants.

Saturday, Aug. 12, is the date set for the next salvage drive which will be the "battle of rags," Ratliff announced.

Ten pounds of rags will count as a unit, and any rags but gunny sacks and mattresses will be acceptable, he said.

Collection stations for the "battle" are the R & R Service Station and McKinley School, and will be open from 1 to 5 p.m.

To date, the Junior Commandos have collected 1250 pounds of grease, 70,940 pounds of paper, 7331 coffee jars and 2684 coat hangers.

The temperature of the air 20 miles above the earth is calculated at 120 degrees—about as hot as Death Valley.

Return of Mankind United to County Appears Possible

Possibility that a cult center of the Mankind United group will be set up in Colma, appeared strong with announcement that 133 acres of the historic Buri-Buri Ranch in Colma had been purchased by Ruby V. Chapman, who is the wife of Arthur Bell—"The Voice" of Mankind United.

Realtors handling the transaction said they understood that the deed would be transferred from Mrs. Chapman to the Christ Church of the Golden Rule, a religious organization recently formed by the Mankind United group.

The property was bought from Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rulfs of San Francisco, for an indicated price of $57,500. The deed was recorded yesterday in Redwood City at the county recorder's office.

At present a portion of the property is under lease to the E. W. McClellan Nurseries.

Realtors said, however, that they understood there was "a distinct possibility" that after the war, or sooner, some church members will settle on the property and begin raising vegetables and other produce.

The Mankind United group, previously had announced plans to set up in California co-operatives on which 200,000 persons will live and work.

Of the original Buri-Buri Ranch of 461 acres, which was first entered on county records in 1868, only 133 acres were sold to Mrs. Chapman.

Mrs. Chapman, acting as trustee for the Mankind United group has purchased more than $3,000,000 worth of California real estate including two San Francisco hotels in the past year. These Mankind United activities recently were investigated by a committee of the State Legislature.

Bell and 11 other cult leaders were convicted in Los Angeles last year of sedition activities. Their conviction now is on appeal. FBI agents at that time uncovered the fact that cult headquarters were at 10 Hillside Dr., Burlingame, Bell's home.

San Mateo Couple Sues Mary French

Suit for $10,000 damages was brought against Mary Belle French, 501 El Cerrito Ave., San Mateo, by Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Morgan, 1829 Gum St., San Mateo, in a complaint filed in superior court this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan charged that Miss French forcibly entered their home on June 22 and searched the residence and their personal belongings without first obtaining authority to do so, their complaint states.

Menlo Fruit Market Under Suspension

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Menlo Fruit Market, 1187 El Camino Real, Menlo Park, is under a seven-day suspension, beginning July 15, under order of the Office of Price Administration hearing commissioner, Francis McCarty. Horace F. Siino and Edward H. Silva, proprietors were found to have overdrawn their ration book bank account for meats and fats.

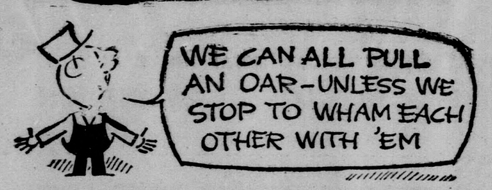
J-M Smokestack By Jim Asbestos



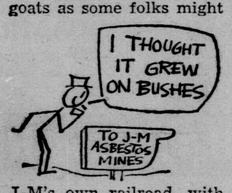
THE TALENT OF PAYING WAGES

Different men have different talents. Some can do certain jobs better than others. Some have talent for saving money and investing money. Some have talent for building industrial organizations. Some have talent for management.

Persons with different talents need each other. Some folks think wage-payers should be abolished, but the world would soon find it had lost a group with a rather important ability.

WHERE DOES ASBESTOS COME FROM

Asbestos does not come off asbestos trees or asbestos goats as some folks might think. It is mined like granite or coal. Johns-Manville owns two asbestos mines, the larger of which is in Quebec.



This Quebec mine is the largest asbestos mine in the world—over half a mile wide and deep enough to bury a skyscraper. In a single year, J-M takes over 200,000 tons of asbestos from this huge crater, and hauls it out on J-M's own railroad, with 14 locomotives and about 160 cars.

LITTLE BITS OF J-M HISTORY

Since 1927, Johns-Manville has:

Greatly increased in physical size—the value of buildings, land and equipment growing from $16 million to $23 million.

Upped the annual payroll from about $12 million to over $43 million and the number of employees from about 7,500 to 14,100. (The roll was up to over 16,000 in 1941 before the war took many employees.)

Instituted a program of research, development and expansion so big that when the war broke out, more than half of J-M jobs had been created by products added since 1927.

J-M was one of the first companies to adopt the normal 40-hour work week and minimum wage policy, well before the government required such things.

J-M has a Retirement Plan which gives retirement income to participating jobholders at 65. And J-M makes available group life insurance and health and accident insurance.

In recent years, Johns-Manville has established and acquired plants and mines, until the list now reads:

Manville, N. J.	Marrero, La.
Waukegan, Ill.	Los Angeles, Cal.
Asbestos, Quebec	Lompoc, Cal.
Chrysotile, Ariz.	Richmond, Ind.
Alexandria, Ind.	Pittsburg, Cal.
Billerica, Mass.	Redwood City, Cal.
Jarratt, Va.	Watson, Calif.
Nashua, N. H.	Zelienople, Penna.
	Kansas Ordnance Plant

The last one was built at the request of the government and is operated by J-M for Uncle Sam.

As Lewis H. Brown, President of J-M, puts it: "We can and will adjust ourselves to every new condition—except one. We will not learn to say 'Heil Hitler.'"

COMMUTERS: Dr. Armstrong Gives Talk on Penicillin

BY JOE CABOOSE

The Commuters learned about medicine's new secret weapon in the war against disease—penicillin—at their regular monthly dinner meeting at Sodini's last Thursday night. It was the first meeting of the new administration headed by Stanley Perkins as president, and was one of the best meetings in the club's history. Fifty-five members turned out to eat a luscious corn-beef-and-cabbage dinner and to hear Dr. Charles Armstrong's erudite speech on the powerful germ-killer, penicillin.

Dr. Armstrong, a graduate of Harvard Medical School and on the staff at Stanford University Hospital, had his listeners reeling under such terms as chemotherapy, antibiotics and intravenus drip. He had a knack, however, for disecting these technical jaw-breakers into hunks the laymen could understand. A sense of humor also helped him over the rough spots. He denied the "intravenus drip" was a commuter; and when someone asked what he thought of good old spiritus frumenti as a cure-all, Dr. Armstrong replied that he had not conducted any personal research along that line but that he thought "it would be fun to try."

★ ★ ★

President Stan conducts a fine meeting. His chairmanship was so expert that the whole program, including dinner, was run off in little more than two hours. The meeting adjourned at 9:55 p.m. (Maybe we shouldn't say that . . . because some of the wives are going to wonder where hubby was until midnight, or worse. Frankly, ladies, we don't know. Caboose was home and in bed by 10:30!) During the meeting, President Perkins announced his committee chairmen as follows: Ross Winchester, house; Roy Noble Cloud, transportation; William Curran, membership and sick committee; Tom Giannini, USO; John Nordstrand, residential, with Bert Conroy continuing to represent the club on the chamber of commerce.

Speaking of the chamber of commerce reminds us that Manager Ned Butler is quite a candid camera fan. Ned and his Lykka had a field day at the 4th of July festival where he roamed about shooting at will . . . and sometimes at Joe, Jim and Jack. Without even waiting to see the whites of their eyes. He took one such of us, and . . . well, we just ain't pretty in it at all. Then he took one of President Perkins, and that was another mistake. Thanks anyhow, Ned, for trying!

We overheard Bill Curran jump Ed Horgan for not attending last Thursday's meeting, and what do you think Ed's excuse was? It's the best we ever heard. Ed and his missus had their own commuter dinner meeting Thursday night, in their own home, and with them as guests were six convalescing service men from Dibble Hospital. They served them meat balls and spaghetti and turkey with all the trimmings; later they had some young ladies in and they played the piano and sang and some of them danced. "It was a sort of USO-Commuter party in our own home," said Mr. Horgan. What a guy!

And that reminds us that other Commuters and their ladies were carrying the ball again at the regular USO in Redwood Saturday night. Serving in the afternoon were Mrs. Jack Welch, Mrs. Chas. Raff and Miss Bess Cordoza; in the evening were Mesdames Welch, Thomas Giannini, Ray Cereghino, Gertrude Hoffman and Marie Stabance. Assisting the ladies were Tom Giannini and Jack Welch.

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, PFC Jackie Welch Waggoner, WAC, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Welch, during the past fortnight. She was on furlough from her station in Florida. While here, Jackie and her parents visited her brother, George, who is an aviation cadet at Santa Ana. The whole family then went to Los Angeles for a few days, but were unable to get hotel accommodations until they accidentally ran into John Clarke of Redwood City, who was stopping at the Clark Hotel, which he claimed was owned by his grandpappy. Anyhow John was able to get them a suite there for the rest of their holiday. These Commuters sure stick together!

Lt. (j.g.) George Prall, USNR, former instructor at Sequoia, is home on a 10-day leave. He looks mighty handsome in that blue and gold. His 5-year-old son David, when asked what he thought about the situation, said: "Daddy used to teach, now the navy's teaching him." That's just what you would expect from a professor's son.

Visiting the Joseph Gregory Morrow's in Emerald Lake are Joe's niece, Mrs. Loretta Novotny and her daughter Ava, 9, both repatriates from Checko-Slovakia (we can't spell Czecho-Slovakia) after living under the heel of Hitler for a year and a half. Mrs. Novotny was born in Chicago, but married a Czech who took her to his homeland to live. He was working in the Skoda armament works when the Nazi's took Prague. The Nazis took over Skoda and Goering's brother became Novotny's supervisor. His wife retained her American citizenship and after 18 months the U. S. consul got passage for her and the children to America. Her husband later managed to escape and make his way to New York where the family is now living. Mrs. Novotny said "Don't think the stories of Nazi brutality are propaganda or exaggerated; they are much worse than have been stated or printed. We saw things that you would say are unbelievable."

An orchid to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bach who bought the Corbett place and who insist that the Commuters have their annual children's party there this month as usual. The house committee is reluctant to plan the affair, however, due to the critical illness of Mr. Corbett, who is in an oxygen tent at the French Hospital. His son, Gene, was going to come down to help the Bach's with the entertainment, but no one has much taste for the party with Joe so desperately ill.

Just learned that Tom Giannini has resigned his position with Bank of America after 28 years service. We don't know the circumstances, but Tom is too young to be retiring, and there must be strong reasons for a man severing a connection of 28 years' standing. His place will not be easy to fill. . . . We forgot to mention that Bill Dobbyn threw a swell feed and a fine party for the directors at their last meeting. . . . Members of the club's softball team and officers should not forget the dinner at Kelly's tomorrow night . . . at which members of the Kiwanis team and club officers will be hosts.

Menlo Park Retired Gardener Found Dead in Home After Three Weeks

A retired gardener, believed to have been dead three weeks, was found lying in his Menlo Park home Monday night by San Mateo County sheriff deputies. The dead man was John F. Roddy, 58, Rural Rte. 1, Alameda De Las Pulgas.

The sheriff's office answered a call by Mrs. Thelma Feeley, 2130 Laurel St., Menlo Park, who was delivering mail and was attracted by the completely filled mail box at Roddy's home.

Deputy Coroner Lew Franklin reported that Roddy had not been seen since June 23, and that he had probably died as much as three weeks ago.

Dr. H. A. Clattenberg, who performed the autopsy, said that death resulted from natural causes at least 15 days ago.

The sheriff's office report indicated that Roddy's wife, from whom he was separated, was living in Detroit. Roddy, himself a former Detroit resident, was a member of the Knights of Columbus there, although he had lived in Menlo Park for the past 20 years.

Roddy is reported to have two sisters, Mrs. H. E. Larson and Mrs. Ellen Kurich, living in Palo Alto, and another sister, Mrs. Kathleen Grady, whose whereabouts was not immediately known.

BURLINGAME—Pending a coroner's report, mystery today surrounded the death of a 38-year-old Burlingame housewife, who died early this morning in Community Hospital the victim either of rum poisoning or a spinal fracture suffered after a reported three-day drinking bout.

The dead woman, Mrs. Irene Schilling, 1008 Balboa Ave., was taken to the hospital late yesterday afternoon paralyzed from neck down. she died at the hospital at 1:15 this morning An autopsy was to be performed by Coroner William Crosby this afternoon to determine the cause of death.

A partially filled rum bottle which was found by the side of Mrs. Schilling as she lay helpless on the floor of her room, today was in the coroner's possession.

The Tribune learned today that the contents of this bottle may be analyzed to determine if it contained arsenic. Preliminary investigation showed that neither opium or strychnine was contained in the bottle.

Although the Burlingame police report gave the dead woman's name as Mrs. Irene Schilling at the hospital she was admitted under the name of Irene Smith. Her residence is listed as the home of A. C. Smith.

San Mateo County Has 11,038 Gardens

San Mateo County residents planted 11,038 victory gardens this Spring, results of a survey conducted by the Home Food Production Committee for the county reveal.

A questionnaire distributed among the school children in 17 county school districts showed that 1700 were reported by the San Mateo High School district while the Redwood City district placed close behind with 1619. Sequoia High School was among the leaders with 1019 reported.

Early this year the production committee, under the direction of John E. Edwards, chairman of vegetables and fruits, distributed a planting list throughout the school districts, naming the best varieties suited to the San Mateo County climate.

More than 200 agricultural camps are to be set up in Britain this Summer for people willing to help farmers during their vacations.

"We don't mind working hard to get their calls through"—

All of the telephone people who work at the camps know what it means to a service man to be able to call home. They don't mind working hard to get those Long Distance calls through.

Busiest time is in the evening, when most of the boys are off duty. You will help them if you "give seven to ten to the service men."

How to bake a fruit pie easily

THIS TIME of year, with delicious fresh fruits available, all of us want to make use of them in as many different ways as possible. And one good way is in pies!

Even the pastry can be made on an easy summer-time schedule. Here's a suggestion: make a double batch of your favorite pastry recipe, putting it together in the "cool of the morning." What you don't use immediately can be left dry, or moistened and wrapped in waxed paper, before placing it in the refrigerator. It's no more work than making a single batch, and the next time . . . . there's the pastry all ready to use for tarts or turnovers or other fresh fruit delicacies!

Fresh fruit pies are simple to make. Here's a recipe for example, which can be used with peaches, plums, cherries, rhubarb, berries, or a combination of fruits:

FRESH FRUIT PIE

3 to 4 cups of cleaned whole berries or sliced fresh fruit
1 to 1½ cups sugar
3 tbsps. flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
Pastry

Prepare fruit, combine dry ingredients and add, adjusting amounts of sugar and flour depending upon fruit's sweetness and juiciness; mix thoroughly. Line pie plate with pastry, and fill with fruit mixture; dot with butter or margarine. Cut slits in top crust; place over pie, crimping edges. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate oven (350° F.) and continue baking 20 to 30 minutes or until done. (1 to 2 tbsps. of lemon juice will bring out the flavor in bland fruit.
